BOOTS AND SHOES—Since our last weekly report, business has assumed quite an animated aspect. Country buyers are numerous and purchase quite liberally, though with more caution and a good deal of unwillingness, in consequence of the enhanced prices asked, which are the most extravagant that have prevailed at any time during the last fifteen years. Many dealers have orders for all they expect to receive during the next four or six weeks, and the good effect of the increased number of hides sent to the tanneries this year cannot be felt until next Summer. Heavy Brogans and Kip Boots are the scarcest articles in market; prices of these are now 15-250 at cent higher than at the same time last year.

Reported specially for The New-YORK TRISUNE.

ALBANY, Wednesday, Sept. 10, 1856.

We have no change to note in the Lumber market for the past week. The business doing continues brisk, and the market for the better descriptions is firm. Dealers say the prospects for a good fall business are very promising. Orders from the East and South are daily received, and the shipments in those directions are to a fair extent.

In the Chicago market the feeling is better, and the dullest part of the season is past. The receipts there up to Aug. 30 were as follows:
